ARTICLE III PLANNING AND DESIGN

This Article shall focus on the plan and design of the RT Course, particularly the conduct of the TNA, development of the training curriculum, development of training materials and contents, and their continuous improvement.

A. Conduct of Training Needs Assessment

The TD, pursuant to Article III, Section 8 (a) of the DOTr DO No. 2020-005, shall perform the TNA every two (2) years among the railway sector's workforce to identify the gap between the personnel's current competency and the expected or required competency for a certain position, which can be addressed through the conduct of capacity development activities. The TNA shall be conducted as follows:

1. Problems and Needs Identification

Before conducting the TNA, the problem or need must first be identified. This can be done by determining the sector's current policies, goals or strategic plans, and roles and responsibilities. Thereafter, a gap analysis must be performed by assessing whether the personnel's capabilities, knowledge, and skills are sufficient to fulfill these policies, goals or strategic plans, and roles and responsibilities. Once a gap is determined, the TNA's objectives can now be set.

2. TNA's Design

Design the TNA by taking into consideration the following factors:

- a. target level of competencies/skills;
- b. target personnel or group to be trained;
- c. data collection methods (e.g., surveys, interviews, observations, focused group discussions, workshops, comment from existing curriculum, and other secondary data);
- d. target resource persons;
- e. schedule;
- f. resources needed; and
- g. personnel in charge of the conduct of the TNA.

The TNA design shall be submitted by the TD Chief to the ED for approval.

3. Collection of Data

Once the TNA design is approved by the ED, the TD can now proceed with the conduct of the TNA. The duration of the TNA's conduct and the design methods of collecting the required data must be that which were identified in the approved TNA design. After receiving data, it shall be consolidated and conclusions shall be drawn. Recommendations on the type of training needed and training contents shall then be reflected in a project plan schedule to be submitted to the ED for the latter's approval.

Data will be stored in electronic format, labeled according to the date when the TNA was conducted. Data storage shall be the responsibility of the RDD Chief, and may be delegated to other RDD personnel.

4. TNA Evaluation

The TD shall then submit a written report to the ED that shall include, but is not limited to, the following:

- a. process of the TNA's conduct;
- b. data/information collected, including major findings;
- c. conclusions; and
- d. recommendations to fill the gap previously identified.

The said TNA Evaluation shall be cascaded to the ROs, third-party service providers (TPSPs), PRI instructors, and other concerned entities for comments, inputs, and feedback.

B. Training Curriculum Development

In the development of the training design and curriculum, a Training Curriculum Development Committee is hereby created composed of the: (1) TD Chief as the Head; and (2) RDD Chief, (3) CAD Chief, and heads of the IHSS, CATS, ROS, RSEFS, SSS, and selected instructors as members. The instructors shall be selected by the Committee Head, while the ED may include other members/s as deemed necessary.

The said Committee shall develop, review, and revise (if necessary) the training curriculum based on the TNA results. The following shall be considered in the training curriculum:

1. competency needed;
2. subjects, topics, and sub-topics required to acquire the competency;
3. presence of at least one (1) learning outcome per topic;
4. Learning task and learning materials;
5. Number of hours per topic;
6. the training assessment method and criteria;
7. number of hours per topic; and
8. references.

The said training curriculum shall be cascaded to the ROs, TPSPs, PRI instructors, and other concerned entities for comments, inputs, and feedback. After incorporating all comments, inputs, and feedback, the revised training curriculum shall be submitted by the TD Chief to the ED for the latter's review and approval.

C. Training Materials Development

Once the training design is approved, the instructors and other concerned personnel can now start developing the respective training materials. These materials can be any or all mediums, such as textbooks, PPT presentations, manuals, instructor's guides, video lecture materials, and handouts, among others, following the standard templates thereof.

These questions must be lifted from the training materials (e.g., PPT presentations, handouts) depending on the topic under consideration.

The following shall be considered in the formulation of questions:

- a. The questions must be based on the learning outcome/s of a particular competency and are relevant to the competency taught.
- b. The questions must suit the type of test/exam to be administered which, in this OO, shall be multiple choice, an objective type of test/exam.
- c. The questions must be clear and unambiguous, following correct grammar, punctuation, and spelling.
- d. Questions are equally distributed according to the level of complexity, following Bloom's Taxonomy.
- e. Words such as not, except, true, false, and best are highlighted.

The entire process of review, approval, and reproduction shall be for a period of one (1) month and every process shall be given a period of not less than five (5) days as determined by the CE Head.

QB Management

The questions shall be stored in a QB, which shall be created and managed by the EC. The same shall only be accessible and viewed online by the latter and the PRI personnel who drafted the question. Revisions of questions shall also be limited to both. The technical counterpart/s, if there is/are any, shall be given a period of 15 calendar days within which to comment on the questions.

Creation of Test/Exam Sets

To ensure that the trainees retain knowledge during and after the training course, there shall be pretests, posttests, and written CE for each of the following:

On the other hand, the following rules shall be taken into consideration by the EC in selecting questions from the QB and formulating the exam sets:

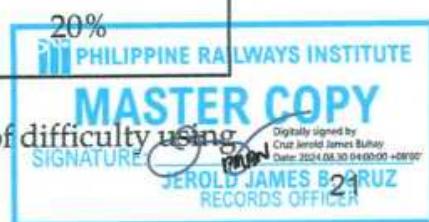

- a. A Table of Specifications (TOS) shall be prepared and used as the basis for the construction of each exam set. In the TOS construction, the following shall be considered:
  - topics covered in the classroom discussion/s, including the learning outcomes set;
  - time allotted for each topic;
  - total number of items;
  - number of items for each learning outcome/topic, following the formula below:

$$\text{Total number (no.) of items} \times \frac{\text{minutes allotted for each topic}}{\text{Total no. of minutes}}$$

- should the outcome of a topic be in decimal, the same shall be rounded off to the nearest whole number;
- necessary adjustments shall be done in the subsequent topics listed;
- the levels of complexity following Bloom's Taxonomy and their corresponding weight in the exam shall be implemented as shown in the example below:

EASY	AVERAGE	DIFFICULT
Knowledge	Application	Synthesis
Comprehension	Analysis	Evaluation
30%	50%	20%

- the number of items for each topic and level of difficulty using the formula below:

$$\text{Allotted no. of items for each topic} \times \text{Weight of level of difficulty}$$

The outcome shall be rounded off to a whole number, making the necessary adjustments; and

- item placements for each topic and level of complexity.

Attached herein as Annex G is a template for the TOS.

- b. In creating the exam sets, the following general rules must be complied with:

- clear and concise instructions on how the exam is to be answered, including the time allotted in answering the same, shall be written on the uppermost portion of the exam sheet;
- questions shall not be repeated;
- each question shall not give or serve as a hint to the other questions' answers; and
- the exam sheet shall have an orderly layout.

The above-mentioned rules shall also be applicable in the creation of the test sets.

Frequency of Test/Exam Revision

Assessment tools shall be revised twice a year or whenever necessary (e.g., curriculum is revised) as determined by the EC. In revising the exam/test questions and corresponding exam/test sets, the following shall be considered:

- a. the questions shall be updated to reflect industry trends and updates in technology and rules;
- b. the sets may consist of the same questions which may be re-shuffled regularly at the EC's discretion, however, the use of the same questions in both the tests and exams must be limited;
- c. similar questions may be used by presenting the same concept using a different example or situation;
- d. new questions shall be lifted regularly from the QB; and
- e. questions that are problematic or incorrect as determined by the EC and/or Instructors shall be revised.

Formulation of the Answer Key

An Answer Key (AK) shall be created by the EC once the assessment tool is finalized to facilitate ease of checking. The AK's layout, as reflected in Annex H hereof, shall be at the EC's discretion.

There shall only be one (1) printed copy of the AK for each set of the tests and exams, which shall be kept by the EC with utmost confidentiality to avoid answer leakage.

Review and Approval of Tests/Exams

Once the test/exam sets are created, the EC Head shall conduct a review following the rules set hereof. For the written CE, the corresponding TOS shall be attached to the set to which it pertains.

In case there is a need to revise the test/exam sets, as determined by the EC Head, the comments and/or suggestions must be communicated to the concerned EC member for appropriate action. Should there be no revisions or comments have already been addressed, the test/exam sets shall be printed and placed in a sealed envelope by the EC.

The TD Chief shall ensure and validate that the subject/topic's objectives are satisfied in the specialized practical CE appropriate for trainees with physical impairment.

Creation of Practical CE

The concerned Instructor shall create, within 15 calendar days after deliberations with his/her section, the practical CE that is deemed an appropriate competency assessment tool of the subject/topic. The draft proposal, herein attached as Annex I, shall have the following information included in its body:

Continuous Improvement

Prior to the implementation of the developed training curriculum, the Institute shall conduct a dry-run to assess whether the assessment tools are aligned with the learning objectives. Participants to the said dry-run may consist of PRI personnel, its technical consultants (if there are any), and relevant stakeholders, as may be deemed necessary by the ED. Results of the said dry-run shall be used to further improve the said tools.

Moreover, the assessment tools shall be reviewed by the Curriculum Development Committee every five (5) years or earlier as deemed necessary. In cases where there are developments in the railway industry, advances in technology, or change in laws, rules, and regulations, the review may be initiated through the submission of a Memorandum to the ED by the TD Chief.

Each examinee shall be evaluated by at least three (3) assessors, who shall record their evaluation/assessment of the examinees' performances in the Rating Sheet (Annex V). At the end of each examinee, the assessors' ratings shall be summarized using the Practical CE Rating Sheet Summary (Annex W).

4. Examination Results/Feedback

After the examinees have completed the practical CE, the assessors shall provide and explain the results to the examinees individually within the same day of the examination. The results shall be discussed with each examinee in a private session and shall be witnessed by an AC member. ### ARTICLE VII EVALUATION OF TRAINEES' COMPETENCE

Upon the trainees' completion of the examinations, the AC shall evaluate their competence.

A. Written CE

The Answer Sheets shall be checked by the AC based solely on the Answer Key released by the EC. Trainees who get a grade of at least 70 percent (70%) shall be considered as having passed the written CE. The results of the said examination shall then be submitted by the AC to the TD based on the required timeline.

When a trainee fails the written CE, he/she shall have two (2) chances to retake the same. If the unsuccessful trainee got at least 70% of either the CE's part 1 or part 2, the said trainee shall be considered as a "conditional pass" and shall be required to retake only the specific part which he or she failed. Otherwise, the trainee shall be required to retake the whole examination.

B. Practical CE

Trainees who acquired a score between 30 to 41 in the written CE shall be eligible for another chance to take the CE through practical assessment/test. On the other hand, a trainee who scored anywhere between 0-29 shall be declared as having FAILED the examination. As such, he/she shall retake the written CE and must get a score of at least 42 in order to pass the examination. Failure to pass the written CE for the second time after failing the first practical CE shall likewise render him/her eligible to take the second practical CE provided, however, that the written CE's score is between 30 to 41.

In case the trainee still fails to pass the second practical CE, he/she shall have the last chance to pass by retaking the written CE and the practical CE, if needed, with the same requirements as above. Finally, in cases where the trainee has already exhausted his/her three (3) chances, the PRI shall inform the respective railway operator or third-party service provider, whichever is appropriate, of the trainee's non-compliance with the required competencies set for railway O&M personnel. In all instances, the AC shall publish the results of the written and practical CEs.

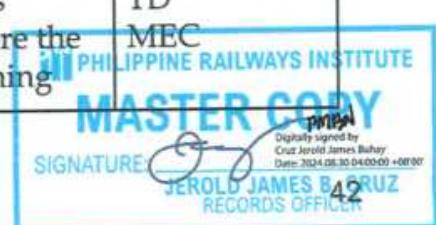

For trainees who failed to pass the CE thrice, the PRI shall inform the respective RO of the trainee's non-compliance with the required competencies set for railway personnel.

  - Microphone: CABLE-A Output (VB-Audio Cable A)

How to connect OBS to Zoom?

- In settings, go to “Video”,

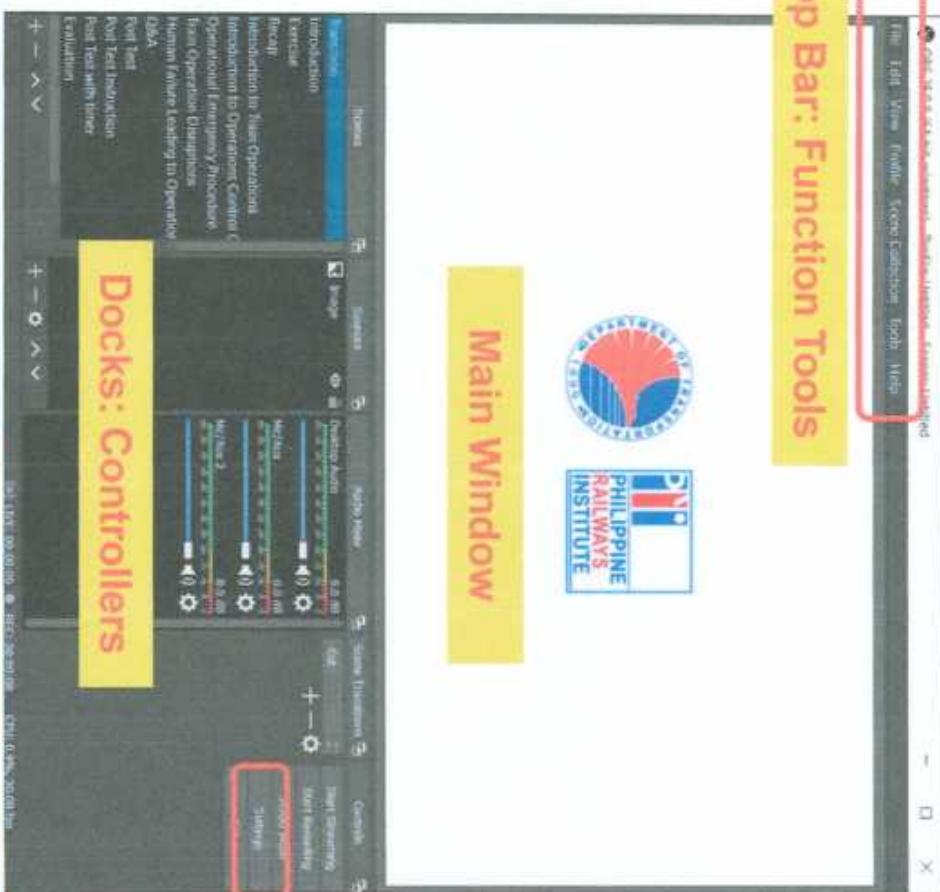

and change the camera setting to “OBS-Camera”

You have now completed the setup in Zoom. Let us now proceed to OBS.

How to connect OBS to Zoom?

Top Bar: Function Tools

- Open the OBS application, go to “Settings”.

Main Window

*As technical personnel, it is important that you know the interface of the OBS application.

How to connect OBS to Zoom?

- In settings, go to "Audio" and change the following:

- Mic/Auxiliary Audio:

CABLE-A (VB-Audio Cable A)

- Mic/Auxiliary Audio 2:

CABLE-B (VB-Audio Cable B)

- Monitoring Device:

CABLE-A (VB-Audio Cable A)

How to connect OBS to Zoom?

- Go to “Tools”, then “VirtualCam”, change the setting of “Target Camera” to “OBS-Camera”, and click start.

You have now completed the setup in OBS application and now ready to operate Zoom and OBS.

How to prepare video output in OBS?

- Download all the video/image materials that you need:
  - Prerecorded videos of instructors
  - Videos/images before the start of training and during breaks
  - Transition videos/images (e.g. DOTr/PRI logo)
  - Required videos/images as per the Training Schedule
  - Timers
  - Others as requested by the instructor/facilitator

How to prepare video output in OBS?

- Add scene/s based on the flow of activities in the

Training Schedule

- Name and arrange these scenes based on how you can easily distinguish them.

How to prepare video output in OBS?

- For each scene, add source/s whatever you want to capture.
- You can change the order of sources whichever you want to be on top. But be careful since it can hide other sources below.

How to prepare video output in OBS?

The following are the basic sources that can be used during the conduct of WRT:

- ▶ Audio Input Capture
- ▶ Audio Output Capture
- ▶ Browser
- ▶ Color Source
- ▶ Display Capture
- ▶ Game Capture
- ▶ Image
- ▶ Image Slide Show
- ▶ Media Source
- ▶ Scene
- ▶ Text (GDI+)
- ▶ VLC Video Source
- ▶ Video Capture Device
- ▶ Window Capture
- ▶ Group
- ▶ Deprecated

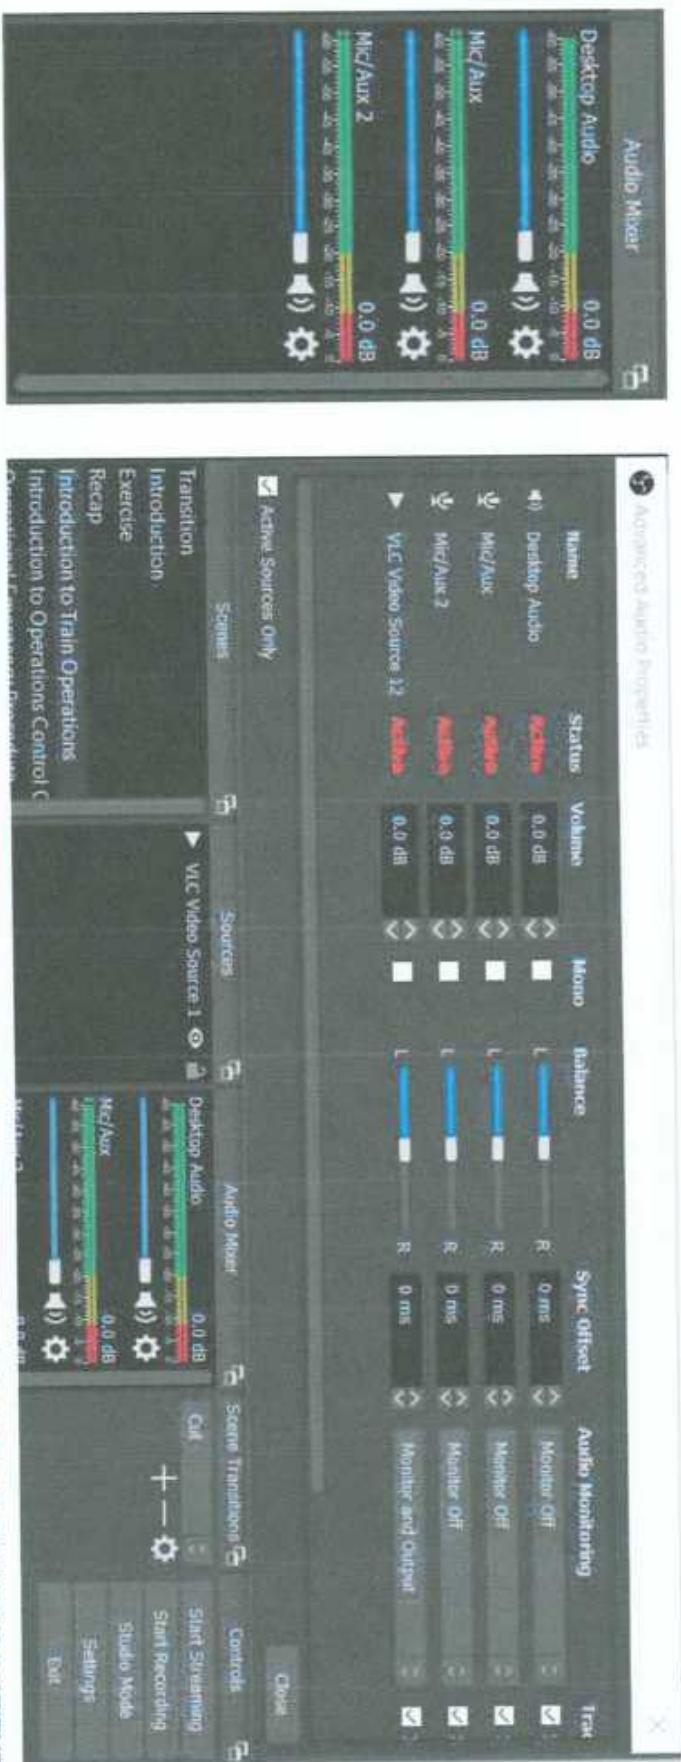

You may try and explore other sources that may be useful in WRT.

*You must install VLC Media Player to use VLC Video Source.

How to set-up audio output in OBS?

- To setup the audio output, go to "Audio Mixer", right click anywhere, and go to "Advance Audio Properties".

How to set-up audio output in OBS?

- Ensure that the “Audio Monitoring” of sources with audio (such as video and media) are in “Monitor and Output” setting.

*For example, my source is a recorded video (VLC Video Source 12) of “Introduction to Train Operations” topic. So, its audio monitoring should be “Monitor and Output”.

How to set-up audio output in OBS?

- You may also adjust the volume of sources with audio, if necessary.

- You may try and explore other setting since only the basic setup is covered in this guideline.

How to operate Zoom and OBS?

- Open Zoom and login using premium account.
- Start/join the meeting as scheduled.
- Open OBS application. You will now see the same display of OBS and Zoom.

*It is a good practice that at the very start of Zoom and OBS operation, the technical personnel checks the settings of audio and camera (as discussed earlier).

Recommended Screen Setup of Zoom and OBS

*It is better if you have extended screen monitor. But if none, you may maximize your screen.

Spotlight Video in Zoom

- Zoom, using spotlight video feature, is now the main tool that the technical personnel will control.

- “Spotlight video” puts a participant (including instructor, facilitator, trainee, and the OBS of technical personnel) as the primary speaker. All participants will only see this speaker as the active speaker.
- You can do this while the instructor/facilitator is talking, a trainee is asking question, and most importantly when displaying the video output from OBS.

How to spotlight video?

- On the video of the participants, press “...”.
- A dialog box will appear.

Click “Spotlight Video”

How to use OBS during live streaming?

- Select and play the scenes in OBS based on the flow of activities in Training Schedule.
- You may also adjust the volume of audio output, if necessary.

Transition from prerecorded video to live, and vice versa

- In OBS, right after the end of prerecorded video, select the scene containing your transition image/video. This will now display in the speaker view of Zoom.
- In Zoom, “spotlight video” the instructor/facilitator.
- You can now operate Zoom with OBS.

- Time of arrival at the area
- Time informed of the event

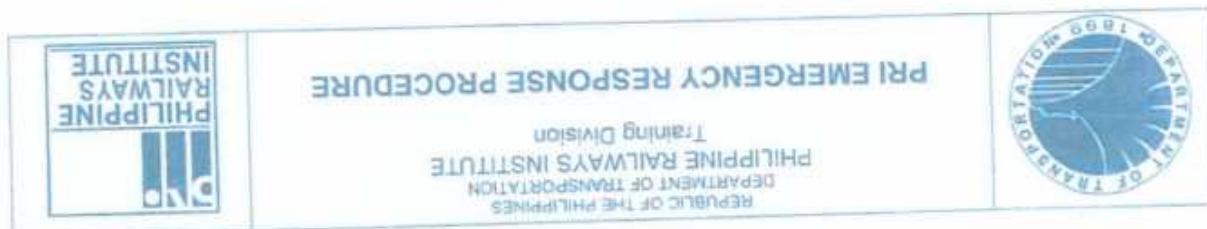

A chronological log of events during the response to the incident/accident should be maintained by the Floor Monitor/Fire Warden. This will include details of communications made, actions taken and any other key factors relevant to the incident. The Documentary Controller is responsible for collating all the individual log entries and to compile an overall incident log of events for signature by the Incident Commander at the closure of the event. The information recorded will provide a verifiable chronology of events and will serve as evidence from the start. For each incoming and outgoing message and any significant event or decision, the following information must be recorded:
